WHO ARE WE

"We can do well by doing good."

- Don Ackerman,
A Vineyard Team Founder

While "sustainable" is a common term in agriculture today, this was not the case in 1994, when a small group of vineyard growers got together on California's Central Coast to talk about critical resource concerns like safe pest management, soil quality, and farmworker training.

Nearly 30 years later, that small group of growers has expanded to include hundreds more, representing over 80,000 vineyard acres. They are members of our non-profit organization, Vineyard Team.

We continue to uphold the original growers' mission: bringing together experienced growers and researchers to educate the industry on sustainable winegrowing practices.

Today, sustainability is accessible to growers across the globe through in-field meetings, digital resources, and third-party certification. We are proud to help facilitate accessibility to all farmers and agriculture professionals.

WHO ARE WE

JUAN NEVAREZ

Juan Nevarez was a dreamer. But the difference between Juan and many was his ability to turn his dreams into reality and share that opportunity with others.

Who is Juan Nevarez?

Juan Nevarez was only 16 when he decided to come to California with a belief that he could do what it took to achieve his dreams, and a solid work ethic to back it up. Alone, undocumented, and without an education, Juan began setting the foundation for what would become a long and successful career in viticulture. Working in the fields wasn't his long-term plan, but he knew that he had to start where he could with his limited experience and lack of education.

He didn't start his career with a college degree that could speak for his expertise and open doors. He built his 110-acre vineyard piece by piece through hard work alone. His success had to be earned. Although his decades of hard labor proved fruitful, he didn't want the same for his children. He didn't want them to struggle as hard as he did in order to become self-sufficient.

The importance of obtaining a college education was a common subject in the home. Growing up, daughter Mia says college was never an option, "it was something that was going to happen!" Mia's father would tell her that an education isn't just about the piece of paper - it's proof of someone's ability to accomplish something through hard work and dedication.

"Our dad had one requirement for all his children: we must graduate from college. It didn't matter what we wanted to study or where, but he insisted we don't come home until our diploma is printed and hanging on the wall in the living room!"

Our dad struggled to read and write but this was not a challenge for him. He was able to build this company and vineyard for us by developing relationships with people and being a man of his word."

- Eufemia Nevarez

SCHOLARSHIP STORIES

Read the stories of past recipients

"My success is not only going to be mine; it will be my family's. I want to be part of the legacy of people that have helped me in my journey."

- Esteban Garcia,
2020 - 2022 Recipient

Esteban | CSU Fresno

"I'm a 28-year-old father of two. Growing up in Mexico City, I never saw an education ahead of me. I was born into a family of poverty. Starting school was exciting and scary because I did not speak English. Becoming a dad at 17, my mindset changed drastically, but I still didn't realize how important school was. I am the middle child of five. My parents would work, but the income from growing crops was never enough. My grandparents grew corn for their everyday needs. All I know is agriculture. Regardless of my struggle, I did it.

Today, I have an A.A. in Enology/Viticulture, A.S in Viticulture, a Certificate of Achievement in Viticulture, and will receive my bachelor's in Viticulture from CSU Fresno. I'm grateful for the sacrifices my parents made. This country has a lot of opportunities for my family. My success is not only going to be mine; it will be my family's. I want to be part of the legacy of people that have helped me in my journey."

"The scholarship has been very helpful. It has allowed me to buy books, pay tuition, cover a lot of expenses, and not worry about using out-of-pocket money to pay for school. The scholarship has allowed me to focus on school and be the best person I can be."

- Alberto Ramirez,
2019 - 2022 Recipient

Alberto | Fresno State

Growing up in a small California community called Shandon, Alberto was always told that he would not get anywhere in life. Working in agriculture with his father since his first year of high school showed him what a tough life his parents had. Alberto shares, "My experience in the vineyard pushed me to do better in school and motivated me to get a better education to eventually repay my parents for what they've done for me."

Since graduating high school in 2018 as treasurer of ASB and FFA, member of the football and basketball teams, and with high grades, Alberto successfully completed two years at Cuesta College with Certificates of Achievement for Pipe Welding and Structural Welding all while continuing to intern at a local vineyard management company.

Today, he continues on to Fresno State to earn a degree in Viticulture.

Evelyn | Cal Poly

While Evelyn's family always encouraged her to attend college, their economic struggles meant that the dream would be hard-won. Due to a physical disability, her father was not able to work, leaving her mother to be the sole provider for the family of four. Evelyn was determined to attain higher education, and sought out financial aid and scholarships to cover her educational expenses. She remains enduringly grateful for the aid.

WHO ARE WE

"There are no words that can sufficiently describe how honored and grateful I am for having been granted the opportunity to be touched by the generosity of such an inspirational organization. It has served as a significant reminder that I am not alone in this journey and that I have support to overcome any obstacle both as an individual and a professional."

Five years after receiving her first scholarship in 2017, Evelyn has completed her Master's program in Agriculture with a specialization in Crop Science at Cal Poly, San Luis Obispo. Her research project on Botrytis bunch rot management was published in a trade journal, and she has accepted an exciting position as Assistant Grower Relations Representative for local winery.

"There is no doubt that being a recipient of the Vineyard Team Educational Scholarship has helped me to get where I am today. This scholarship has not only made a significant difference in financially supporting my educational journey, but it has also opened up so many doors through which I was able to begin my career in viticulture."
